VOCATIONS

"Those new quotations are tough! . . . . Do you have your Civil War chart done yet? . . . . How did you figure out that formula? . . . . Is this a dagger? . . . . MacBeth . . . . Will we have to say it or write it? . . . . Detention . . . . blue slips, yellow slips, white slips . . . . Can I go to the library? . . . . Thus, we learned."

VACATIONS

A picnic at Messengers recreational basketball hall. We won and lost

Our dances in the cafeteria . . . social hour
We baked paper for our school and country

. . . Golf . . . tennis
swimming . . . base ball . . . literary pr grams . . . school plays
We learned how to work and play . . . and so we lived

Living to Learn

Our school is a place where students learn to live and learn.

Students learn to live and learn in a place where they can learn.

Since we live so well, we can learn that we are an integral part of this process of our education.

The patriotic spirit is shown by the students as they greet Dick and Jim and say their goodbyes as they leave to enlist in the Navy.

Since these students really have had a very good time at the Christmas picnic. These smiling faces are a result of the junior-senior picnic. With the tire shortage, it looks like the next one will be held on the school grounds. Say, Phyl, that boy is a real gleam in his eye. That was the sort of thing we need to look out for while doing the "Look at the Teachers" officers look as though they really enjoy their work, or maybe it's that the students are cooperating so well. Jim didn't get his uniform, but here is Dick as he left for Pearl Harbor.

THE FACULTY,

We the departing seniors, take this means of thanking the faculty for their untiring efforts in guiding us over the rough path to a brighter future.

Mr. Akin, who teaches mathematics along with science and physics, made his classes less "painful" by performing interesting experiments.

Due to the patient guidance of Miss Azeltine, L. T. H. S. is turning out many good stenographers and typists for this busy world of today.

Mr. Bismarck, science, biology, and chemistry teacher, helped us in our study of bugs and elements.

Miss Barrick, our mathematics teacher, did her best to teach us what two times two equals.

Our home economics teacher, Miss Catherine Jongsma, followed in the tradition of all good cooks by finding a husband. Mrs. Louis Bottino finished the year in her place.

Our band director, Mr. Caneva, taught many of us how to blow our own horns. I may add that we have become very apt pupils.

TEACHING,

An absence of grammatical mistakes in these passages would be due to the teaching of Miss Fitzgerald and Mrs. Emmons in English. We hope this is a credit to their work.

Mr. Flink and Mr. Lindberg, athletic director and coach respectively, have helped to make school life more enjoyable through their interesting sports' program.

Who says Latin is a "dead" language? Julius Caesar and his men lived every morning from 8:30 to 9:15 in Mr. Johnsonius's Latin class. He also spends much time teaching the juniors and seniors to act like Garbos and Gables.

Report cards, excuses, and calls to the office have made some of us very frequent callers on Miss Meader.

GUIDING,

When we speak of Guiding, we mean the work of the Guiding Association, which is a part of the larger work of the Church of Christ.

It is the work of the Guiding Association to help the young people of the Church to grow in their faith and to become more active in the life of the Church.

The Guiding Association is a part of the larger work of the Church of Christ, and it is the work of the Guiding Association to help the young people of the Church to grow in their faith and to become more active in the life of the Church.

LEADING,

Mr. Skamser and Mr. Paul White share the honor of teaching the greatest number of subjects. We have no doubt that from them we learned something new each day.

In Mr. Stephenson's history classes we have had the opportunity of fighting more battles than ever. If we had stopped fighting after the Revolution our task would have been much easier.

Mr. Sterling proved to many of us that it is possible to make clever articles out of trees.

Mr. Weston has accomplished a modern miracle this past year. He found that precious electron that was lost some time ago.

We hope that the mechanics down in Mr. H. A. White's auto shop have figured out a way for our old jalopies to run another ten years or so.

SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

In September 1934 we entered L. T. H. S. as a new high school. Three men and one woman at this year first met and became known to me.

During this first year, we have Gene Carlson, Arvid Anne, Phyllis Morey and John Kesser members. Andy Lind, John, Lynn and Dean Sterling were members. John Lynn, Dean Sterling, John Kesser and Arthur Foss were officers and John, Phyllis Morey, Walter Martin and Walter Martin were members.

The activities of the first two years were not very good but when we became under the new school system we added the many new activities and the senior party.

Our senior year has many new and interesting things as we have a new school building, a new senior party, The British Bulletin, the TIMES and LOCK sports in papers and the new program.

Soon we will be leaving L. T. H. S. and we hope that every one of us will find future success.

Ye Aulde Willie

We of the graduating class of the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and thirty two of Lockport Township High School do hereby decree that the provisions supplied in this will shall be effected immediately following the dismissal of the class.

We being supposedly sound of mind and sound of body and hereby stating that we are under no duress provide for this date while the following provisions to wit:

Article I

To the faculty in return for the detentions and help they give us a little peace.

Article II

To the juniors our very high scholastic records and our positions on the Times and "Lock".

Article III

To anyone else in the school because they don't matter anyway we the time and sport and fat landscape and any other thing that they can't see and our awkwardness our sense of humor and sometimes our obvious lack of a sense of humor our seats in the assembly hall and standing room in football games our girls and our girls our boys and our frowns our As and our Fs our white shirts and our blue and anything else that doesn't cost us a thing.

Class Prophecy

Looking ten years ahead we see a world as violent as World War II and taking a peek into a history book we see that the Japanese population increased from 135 million to 135 (and they are under lock and key).

Many of our girls are nurses some of them dressed in white and some without. Strange creatures these girls; some are still girls.

We see in our old classrooms flying around in convertible cars and if you think women drivers are bad you should see women pilots!

Hollywood is overruled with Lockport and Hollywood actresses are won Academy Awards. However the high production of movies is not what it was.

A few of our classmates are still attending their education after 14th year in L. T. H. S.

With these pleasant glances into the future we end our prophecy with the following brainstorm:

"We ain't braggin'
But it's understood
Whatever we did
We did it good!"

Attested and sealed MCMXLII.

IN MEMORIAM

Gregory Tadey

March 12, 1924—May 17, 1940

"To live as gently as I can;

To be no matter where, a man;

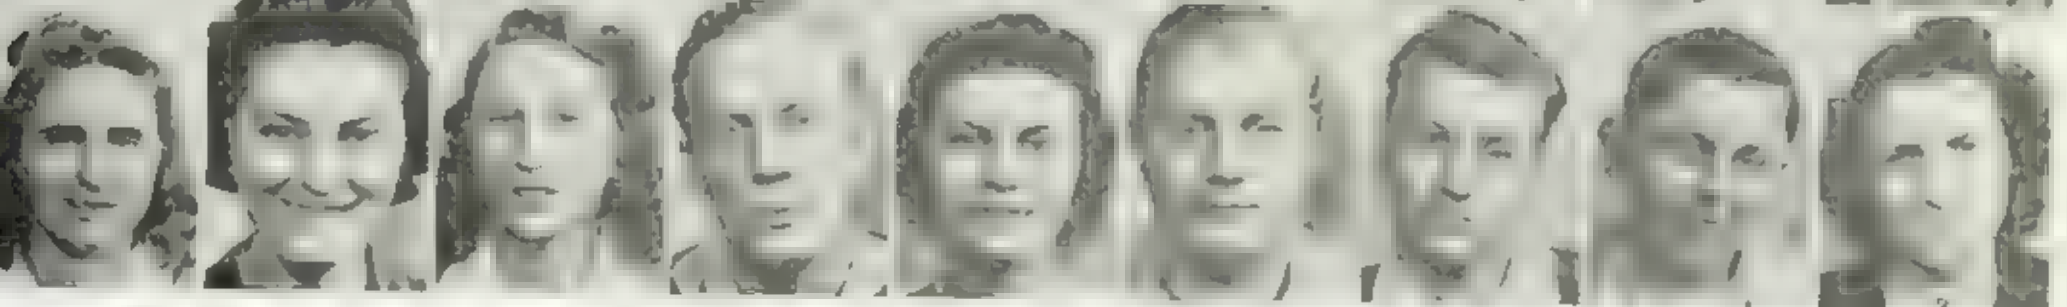

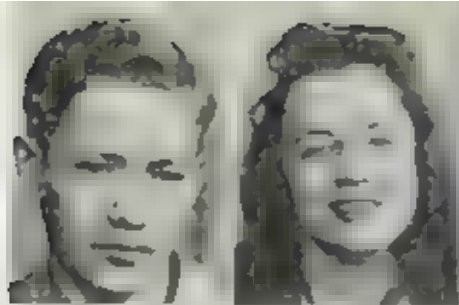

To take what comes of good or ill

And cling to faith and honor still;

To do my best, and let that stand

The record of my brain and hand."

BOARD OF CONTROL

The board of control with the assistance of Mr. Smith determines the athletic policy of our school. They pass on schedules, determine prices of tickets, certify the awarding of letters, budget finances, and arrange for the annual athletic banquet given each year for all branches of competitive athletics in the school.

RED CROSS

One of our newest and most active groups in school this year was the Red Cross. The group below was divided into various committees and conducted membership drives, collected for war relief, collected cards and gratuity for veterans, the girls knitted and sewed and the boys did a fine job of selling defense stamps. Some of us took the first aid course while everyone did his part.

MUSIC

Mr. Carnevali's year was given credit at all music in our school. It is believed that this will provide a first year instruction and training of the band, orchestra, and glee club. All three units took part in a concert last December, the Christmas program, and the gym exercise. The orchestra and glee club also helped provide music at our junior and senior plays. Because of the war, a band is not entering the state contest this year. Money actually provided for this will be used in giving concerts at home and at some of the nearby training camps this summer. In this we will be able in a small way to help in civic and military morale.

THE CAFETERIA COMMITTEE

CAFETERIA COMMITTEE

Organized for the purpose of entertaining the students during the noon hour and helping the faculty maintain order in the cafeteria the cafeteria committee well serves its purpose.

Under the direction of B. Twiss and chairman of the committee provided the students with cards, games and other sources of entertainment when prevailing conditions prevented the students from going outdoors.

LITERARY SOCIETY

This year the Literary Society provided the school with many more educational and entertaining programs than in preceding years.

Our first assembly on October 8 found us with Mr. Burney Stewart who exhibited his skill in speed typing.

On October 15 the P. Yung Lees entertained us with their speech on Chinese culture and music.

Burton L. Jackson entertained us with his marimba solos on October 27.

We were "Paging Uncle Sam" on November 3 with Walter Morgan.

"Persia Met America" by means of Julia Sherman on December 2.

On January 20, Russ Hoagherhyde explained the art of archery.

The mysteries of liquid air were explained to us by Dr. F. H. Brown on February 4.

March 15 brought us Mr. White, an F.B.I. man.

March 30 carried us along to the school for Drama.

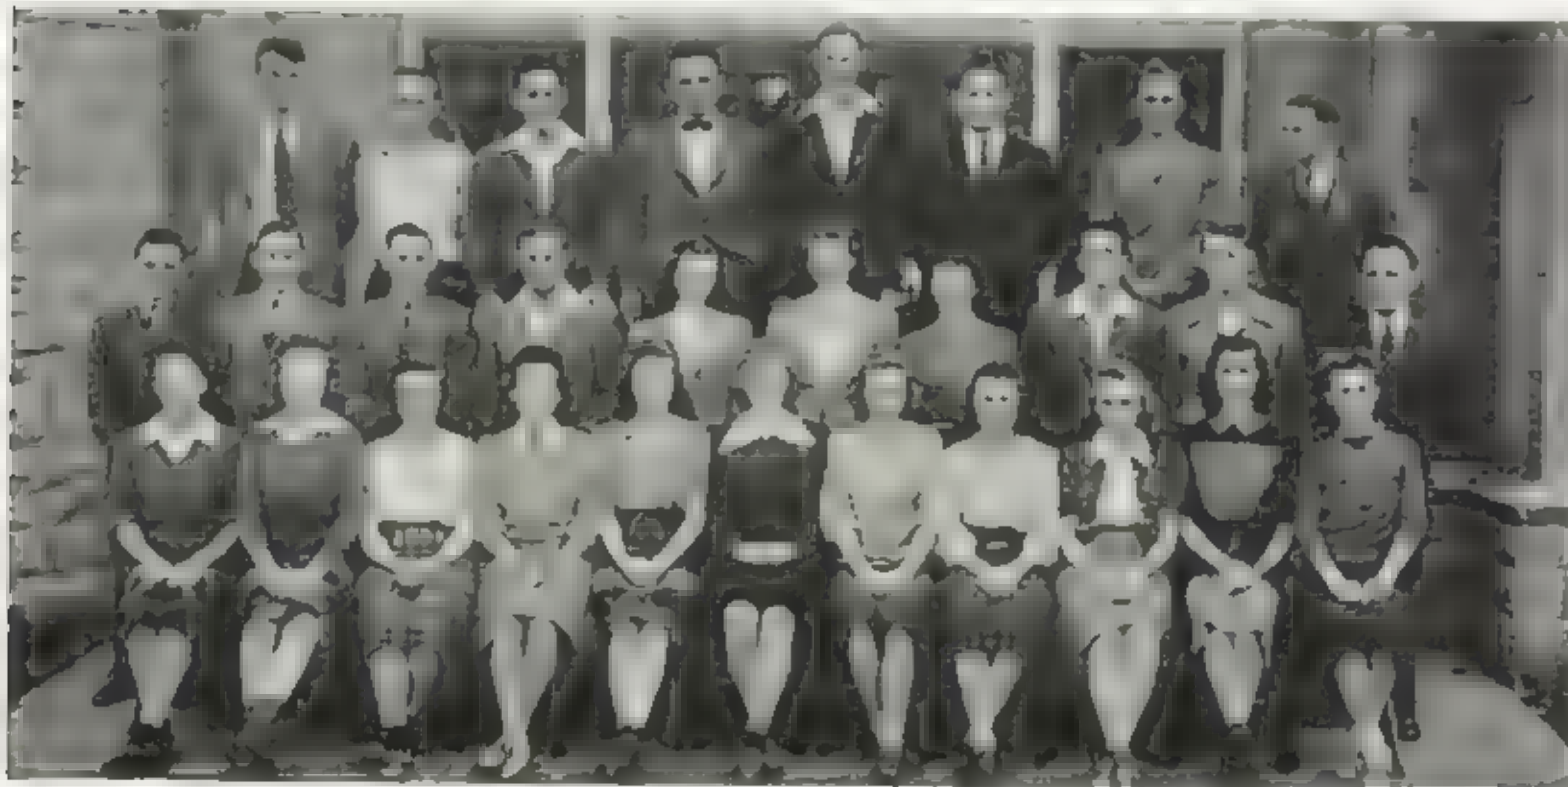

On April 14, Geoffrey F. Morgan told us about the "Marks of a Man."

SOCIAL HOUR COMMITTEE

Six social hours were held in the cafeteria during December, January, and February, each was directed by a committee consisting of one faculty member and four members of the student body.

The first social hour was held on Monday, December 8 directed by Miss Barrick and her assistants. Entertainment was furnished by Shirley Jones singing and playing the guitar, and Beverly Wright, singing and dancing.

This year a loud speaker system was installed so that recordings furnished music for dancing, and as a result many new couples were seen on the floor.

This year the Lock Staff was divided into three committees under Phil Peck, Walter Munch, and Grace Claussen. At each of the many entertaining dances held in the cafeteria, the respective committees had charge of tickets, advertising, and managing the various dances. These dances not only provided the students with entertainment, but also raised about twenty dollars from each dance to help finance our yearbook.

A new method of raising money was suggested by some of the staff members, and as a result, baling paper proved to be a great help in producing additional money for the yearbook.

A new paper will be published every day. The first issue of the staff could be heard.

"Say, what are you writing your editorials on?" Andy and Ruth.

"Know any dirt we can clean up on, Grace?" June Lynn.

"Hey, Jean, be a pal and take the notes on the assembly?" Florence Zelke.

"I'm sorry I can't help you, but I can write about at least one victory." Clifford Mulbarger.

"Do you have time to type my material for me?" Jack Underwood.

"There is some funny business around somewhere!" Amil Ajamie.

"Why don't you find it then?" Ted Harpham.

"You are the master, try and get in your material. I have very little material as yet." Mr. Pence.

"THE BASHFUL BACHELOR"

The Bashful Bachelor, a three-act comedy written by Anne Fernald Weatherly, was presented at the auditorium April 2 and May 1 under the direction of Mr. A. L. Johnson.

The story is based on a bashful young man who deserts New York for the anticipated life of a small mid-western town, only to find it a college town—a girls' college town, mind you—just what our hero hopes to escape.

The girls like him, but he is only a nervous case for and for a while she doesn't like him. Then finally she likes him, and after a splendid "butter button" who's got the point of view, that warrants further explanation, the guy gets the gal and it's all over.

The plot is a little thin, but when a murder starts the family jewels. They are pearls in the case. They get the pearl picked out, however, and practically drive the murderer while doing it. The plot really comes to a close when the police finally arrive.

"YOUR FACE IS FAMILIAR"

"Your Face Is Familiar"

The action of the play centers around the Grand home. Lewis has gone to meet a Mr. Hayward who may give him an important position. His wife invites his two rivals for dinner to keep them out of the way. These two used to be rivals for Gracie and they detest each other very much.

They arrive separately and learning the other is to be there, each dresses up as a woman to pose as the other's abandoned wife.

Lewis invites Mr. Hayward to his home. The two impersonators then want nothing so much as to get out their skirts and wigs and try for the position themselves.

In the meantime the little wife gets jealous of the impersonators and Lewis gets jealous of the two men his wife invites.

Every well-managed farce must work out to a happy ending, and this one gets there through one button-busting situation after another.

Learning to Live

We worked hard every day and sometimes I think we played too hard at our work. We rest and are happy and contented when at last we have finished a very long and hard day.

We certainly gave Crane Tech of Chicago a nice thumping in golf last fall . . . That was before any priorities on golf balls and trees. . . . Our coach looks rather startled here, doesn't he? . . . Don't tell his wife. . We tried swimming in our new pool this year . It certainly was fun, and a bit attractive too. . . Another new sport for us was bowling. . . How did that match with the faculty come out? . . . I hope they did better than our golf team did against the faculty last spring. . . Of course we had our regular sports like football and the rest. . . . We tossed in a couple of spectators, because you know they help pay the bill

HEAVYWEIGHT FOOTBALL

After a slow start, Coach Lindberg's heavyweight football squad ended the season in the style, playing the last four games without sustaining a defeat. The Porters did not compete in the South Suburban League as they have in previous years because of the winter snow and the other schools. Sixteen seniors from the squad will graduate in June, leaving quite a task for our mentor next year.

The above pictures show a group of Lockport players during the Argo game which was played on a very muddy field. This fact is evident by the muddy appearance of quarterback Moore and linemen Kent and Twiss. All Wagon was doing in his pants, they did seem very enthusiastic about the whole affair.

The picture on the left shows M. Hammering lined under six hundred pounds of iron. The boys at the right are getting in pretty good for their group pictures.

LIGHTWEIGHT FOOTBALL

Under the expert guidance of coaches Stephenson and Flink, the lightweights, frequently referred to as the battling lightweights, ended the season with 3 wins and 3 defeats. Since sixteen of the heavyweights are graduating, many of these lightweights will probably see action with the heavyweight squad next season.

HEAVYWEIGHT BASKETBALL

[illegible][illegible]

HEAVYWEIGHT BASKETBALL

Our team showed definite signs of improvement toward the latter part of the season but not quite enough to defeat our old rival, Janet and consequently we were eliminated from the sectional tournament played at Chicago Heights. The team this year was composed mainly of seniors who include A. Plus J. Murphy, R. Kuebler, C. Maderger, R. Green, W. Twissell, W. White and M. Herring. Two underclassmen Miller and Ross saw a lot of service and will be back.

The above picture shows Coach Lanning explaining a play to six members of his squad who evidently are quite interested in what he is telling them. On scrutinizing the drawing of the basketball court hastily drawn on the locker room floor one can see written in the left portion of the diagram the name Maderger who seems to be quite puzzled concerning the procedure of the outlined play.

LIGHTWEIGHT BASKETBALL

At the Lockport Lightweights, the first year of the team, they played a very successful season, winning all their games. They played with B. L. and a few more in the year which was set with a few more were added to the team.

From the year 1911 to 1912, the team was very successful, winning all their games. They played with B. L. and a few more in the year which was set with a few more were added to the team.

In the year 1913, we see the five players who were in the team. They are, from left to right, Ed Rickard, John Burkett, Rich Lister, Frank Burkett, and Henry Harrison.

OUR NEW SWIMMING POOL

That much awaited event finally happened for us. The new swimming pool was opened to the students soon after the school year began.

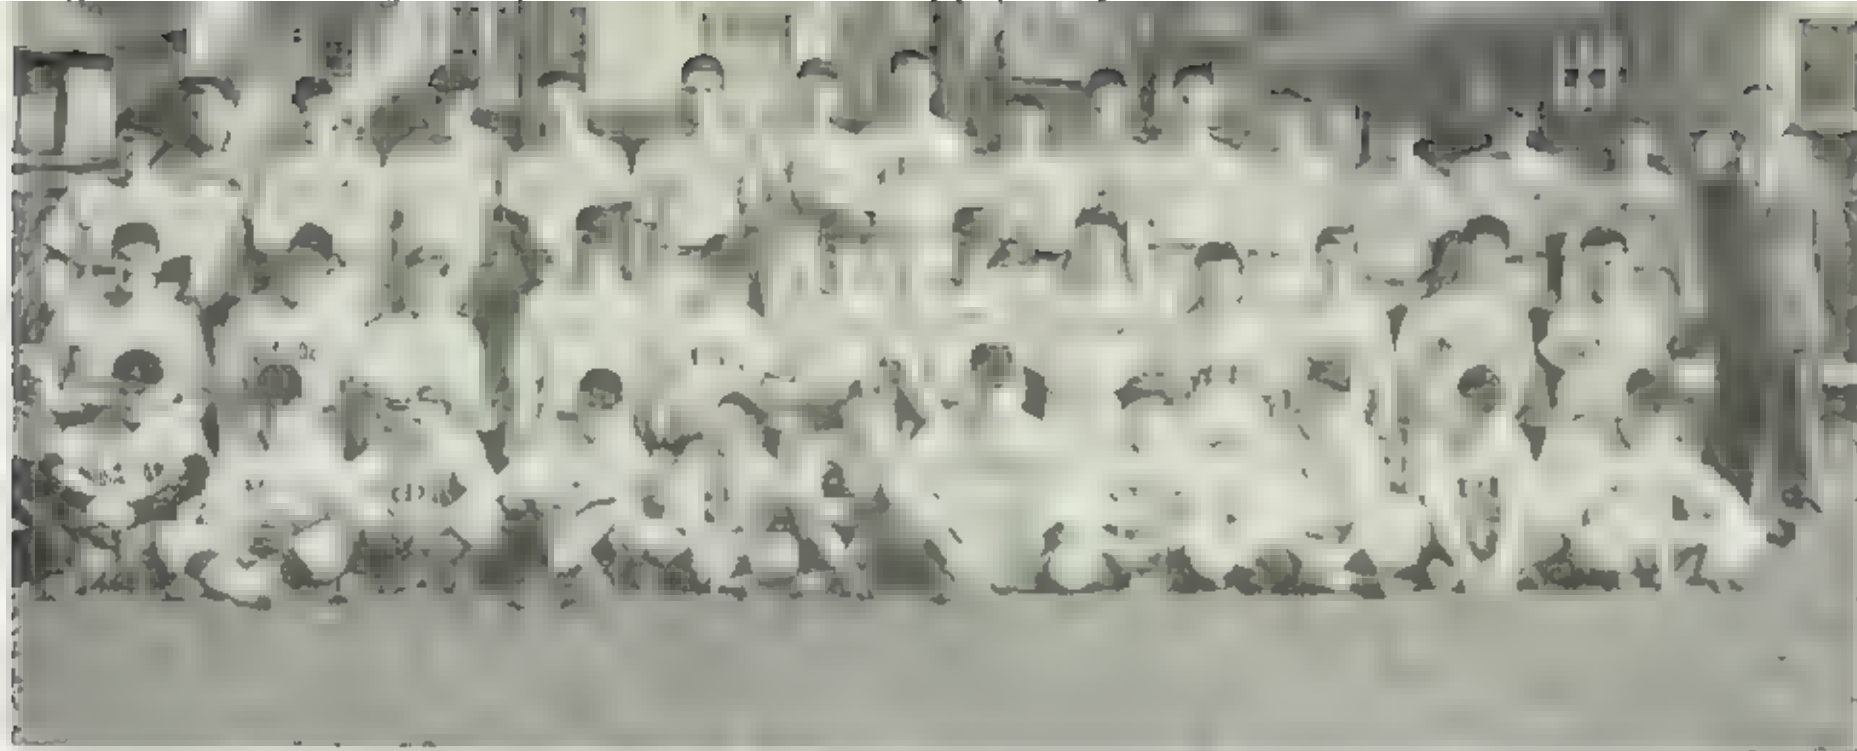

It was hoped that the pool would have been completed last year, but unforeseen difficulties kept popping up. And now at last gym classes mean (at least once a week) swimming time.

The girls' classes are divided into three divisions; beginners intermediates and advanced.

Most of the people in the neighborhood were all over town were generally very friendly. I don't think I ever saw a person who was prior to this year, but as the year went on, I saw more and more people who were in our high school.

The purpose of the GAA is to encourage and enforce members to follow the strict and better health rules.

The officers for the school year 1941-42 were: Ely as Mayor, and Betty T. as vice-president. Joan Kennedy secretary and Dorothy E. Jones as treasurer.

The activities for the year included games, basketball, and volleyball for men, and basketball, shooting contests. Many of us also received extra credit for taking part in the riding club, bowling, swimming, and golf.

I promise to uphold the ideals of the Girls' Athletic Association
By promoting interest in the out-of-doors,
By living so that I may be healthy and strong,
By making good sportsmanship a common factor in my conduct.

Had my horse leave while I was around for a little center around the circle.
 It looks as though Mary Lee is her sister or something. I wonder where Geri and her mother? Look at that girl on the right. I wonder what she would make up her mind where so that the girls would look in the same direction.
